

The Global Change Master Directory (GCMD) keywords are a hierarchical set of controlled vocabularies in Earth science. The GCMD is one of NASA's contributions to the international Committee on Earth Observation Satellites (CEOS), where the GCMD is coordinated by the International Directory Network (IDN) Interest Group. The GCMD was deprecated by NASA's Earth Science Data and Information System (ESDIS) Project in June 2020.

See also

Earth Observing System Data and Information System \(EOSDIS\)

Climate change

OPeNDAP

Ozone

Sunspot

Geospatial metadata

Solar variation

IDN

References

External links

GCMD Keyword Viewer Archived 2024-11-28 at the Wayback Machine

International Directory Network

Earth Science Data and Information System \(ESDIS\) of NASA Archived 2020-08-25 at the Wayback Machine

Committee on Earth Observation Satellites \(CEOS\) Archived 2024-03-15 at the Wayback Machine