

Kim Jin-sun (Korean: 김진선; born November 10, 1946) is a former governor of Gangwon Province, South Korea, and former president of the Pyeongchang 2018 Olympic Organizing Committee for the 2018 Winter Olympics which was held in Pyeongchang, South Korea. He resigned from the top post of the POCOG in July 2014 only nine months after being reelected, although his current term should have expired as late as in October 2015.

Election results

General elections

Local elections

Governor of Gangwon

== References ==