

The National Astrophysics and Space Science Programme (NASSP) is a South African space science research organization. The organization was founded in 2003.

The cosmologist Peter Dunsby was the founding Director of the NASSP for its first ten years.

See also

South African National Space Agency

References

External links

<https://www.star.ac.za/>