

Sanjay Hansda is an Indian banker and economist who serves as an executive director of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). He has held senior roles in economic research, monetary policy, and public debt management, and has represented India at the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

Early life and education

Sanjay Hansda completed his schooling at Balurghat High School. He then graduated from the University of North Bengal and post-graduated in economics from the Jawaharlal Nehru University. He also holds a diploma in financial services management from Jamnalal Bajaj Institute of Management Studies, University of Mumbai.

Career

Hansda has held several senior positions at the Reserve Bank of India. He served as Chief General Manager and Adviser between 2020 and 2022. Earlier, he worked as Director in the Department of Economic and Policy Research and the Internal Debt Management Department.

In 2007, he was seconded to the Bank of England as an analyst in the area of financial stability. He later served as senior advisor and member of the executive board (India) at the International Monetary Fund. In March 2025, he was appointed executive director in the Department of Economic and Policy Research of the RBI.

== References ==