

Content intelligence is a method that uses artificial intelligence systems and software algorithms analyze data content. AI edits the behavioral analysis of customers and clients, while the software processes vast amounts of data in order to provide insight on content trends, efficiency and sentiment analysis.

See also

Content moderation

Customer Data Platform

Marketing and artificial intelligence

Marketing intelligence

Media intelligence

== References ==