

The Eurimages Audentia Award is an annual film award, presented by Eurimages to honour films by emerging women filmmakers. The award is presented at a different international film festival each year, to a film screening within that year's festival program.

Winners

References

External links

Official website