

The Implementing Recommendations of the 9/11 Commission Act of 2007 (Pub. L. 110–53 (text) (PDF)), is an Act of Congress. The Act implements some of the recommendations of the 9/11 Commission including mandating 100% inspection of all air and sea cargo entering the United States, and a new method of redistributing anti-terrorism funding.

The bill also authorized the creation of Fusion Centers.

Legislative history

The bill passed the House on January 9, 2007, by a vote of 299-128-8. It later passed the Senate with an amendment by unanimous consent. The two chambers of Congress went to conference, and a conference report in which the bill was amended and renamed the Improving America's Security Act of 2007 passed the Senate 85-8-7 on July 26, 2007, and the House 371-40-22 the following day. It was signed into law by President George W. Bush on August 3, 2007. It became Public Law 110–53. Andrew Weis, senior counsel, led the drafting of the legislation.

The private sector preparedness requirements in the bill were based on the work commissioned by the Sloan Foundation to draft a framework for voluntary preparedness.

Short titles

Implementing Recommendations of the 9/11 Commission Act of 2007

Improving America's Security Act of 2007

9/11 Commission International Implementation Act of 2007

Advance Democratic Values, Address Nondemocratic Countries, and Enhance Democracy Act of 2007 or the ADVANCE Democracy Act of 2007

Federal Agency Data Mining Reporting Act of 2007

Improving Emergency Communications Act of 2007

National Transit Systems Security Act of 2007

Secure Travel and Counterterrorism Partnership Act of 2007

See also

September 11, 2001 attacks

References

External links

H.R. 1

House Vote Roll Call, Accessed January 13, 2007

Implementing the 9/11 Commission Recommendations Act of 2007 Archived 2007-01-17 at the Wayback Machine, on WashingtonWatch.com

USA Today story on signing of the bill into law

Congressional efforts to implement recommendations of the 9/11 commission Archived 2007-09-29 at the Wayback Machine at SourceWatch